MOTION OF APPLE INC. FOR LEAVE TO FILE AMICUS CURIAE BRIEF

Apple Inc. (“Apple”) moves for leave to file the accompanying amicus curiae brief in support of the motions for declaratory judgment filed in the above-captioned cases by Google Inc., Microsoft Corporation, Yahoo! Inc., Facebook, Inc., and LinkedIn Corporation (“the providers”). As set forth in greater detail in its filing, Apple submits this filing to describe the interest of Apple and its customers in the motions that have been filed and to provide additional analysis as to why the Government’s position both (i) lacks any statutory basis and (ii) violates the First Amendment right of Apple and others to provide the public and Apple’s customers with important information on an issue that has been the subject of intense political debate and public concern.

The providers consent to Apple’s filing. The Government consents to Apple’s filing on the condition that it have the opportunity to file a reply due on or before November 26, 2013, if it chooses to do so. Both the providers and Apple consent to this condition.

No party or counsel for a party participated in the drafting of this brief or made any monetary contributions to it. For these reasons, and those set out in the attached brief, Apple respectfully requests that the Court grant it leave to file its amicus curiae brief.

Pursuant to FISC Rule of Procedure 7(i), Apple states that none of its undersigned counsel holds security clearances. Pursuant to FISC Rule of Procedure 7(h)(1), Attorneys for Amicus Apple certify that the undersigned attorneys are members in good standing of the Bar of the District of Columbia.
